6 Refine your search Boolean and proximity operators

Boolean searching allows you to combine search terms using the operators AND, OR, and NOT.

Proximity searching allows you to combine search terms using the proximity operators NEAR and FBY (followed by).

Truncation allows you to retrieve records containing variations on a search term – eg, auteur, auteurist, auteurism. Type the first few letters (stem) of the keyword followed by an asterisks (*).

To ensure that your search matches the data, use the 'select from a list' link where available. Simply enter an approximate search term and then choose the applicable item to paste it into the search field.

7 My Archive

You can create your very own archive from within which you can view your saved records and your saved searches and create and view email alerts.
