 Beyond Relevance and Recall, Health Information & Libraries Journal (2009)*

Built with its audience's daily work practices in mind, BNI is a quality online database providing up-to-date bibliographic journal information to:

- Nursing and Midwifery Practitioners
- Health Visitors
- Students
- Researchers
- Health Managers
- Allied Health Professionals

BNI is an ample bibliographic database for high quality journals reflecting UK health practice in nursing. The database continues to grow and its focus will expand to include important journals from other regions including Australia, Canada and the United States. The vision remains for BNI to provide current and comprehensive coverage for its users.

- Includes concise indexer-written abstracts for all records from 2004 onwards to enhance keyword searching
- Online journals are indexed as soon as they are published making it easy for practitioners and students find the latest information on core titles
